Brett Schwartz is an associate in Messner Reeves' litigation group. He works specifically with civil and complex commercial litigation as well as personal injury and product liability.

Brett graduated with his Bachelor of Arts in English from the University of Georgia before he received his Juris Doctorate, magna cum laude, from Mercer University's Walter F. George School of Law in Macon, Georgia. There, he was the recipient of a merit scholarship and named to the Dean's list in five semesters. At Mercer, Brett completed the Certificate in Advanced Legal Writing, Research, & Drafting. A member of the Mercer Law Review, Brett was elected Articles Editor, Winter 2014 Volume 65, Number 2. Upon graduation, he was selected for induction into the Brainerd Currie Honor Society for outstanding academic achievements and service to the law school community. At Messner Reeves, Brett has tried several jury trials in District and Federal Court, and he has represented hundreds of clients in litigation.
