Torben Welch is the head of the Messner Reeves Utah office and is licensed to practice law in Colorado, New York, and Utah. Torben has specialized in handling complex business and commercial transactions worldwide, providing practical “solutions-oriented” operations and general counsel services to help clients achieve their business goals. His practice areas include real estate, finance, international business, lending/banking, tech, hospitality, and sports.

Torben received dual Bachelor of Arts degrees in Political Science and English from the University of Utah and his Juris Doctorate from the University of Denver Sturm College of Law. He deeply understands enterprise strategic planning, international trade, contract negotiation, asset acquisitions, commercial leasing, regulatory compliance, financing, corporate governance, workout and recovery strategy, mergers and acquisitions, internal and external investigations, and litigation prevention. In his 18 years of practice, he has represented various clients, including serving as outside general counsel to companies of all sizes.

Apart from his legal career, Torben has a keen interest in soccer, cricket, and golf. He is registered with the English Football Association as an Intermediary (or agent) for football/soccer players, coaches, and clubs/franchises. His unique legal perspective makes him stand out as an intermediary, and he often assists other intermediaries and advises their clients on contract negotiations, trademarks, post-career challenges, etc.

During his legal career, Torben has been involved in a wide range of cases, including representing individuals, businesses (from Fortune 500 companies to start-ups), professional athletes, and sports franchises in global transactional and litigation matters. In addition, he has served as the VP and Associate General Counsel of one of the nation’s largest privately held mortgage banks. His diverse experiences have given him a well-rounded perspective on legal and business issues, allowing him to see them from all sides of the equation.

As an attorney, Torben is known for his practical and actionable advice. He prefers to provide “real-world” solutions and avoid getting bogged down in hypothetical presumptions that overcomplicate and unnecessarily over-lawyer the goals of his clients. He focuses on litigation prevention but serves as a trial attorney performing independent internal and external investigations or appeals hearings as needed.
