Chad A. Harrison is an associate with the Las Vegas office of Messner Reeves, where his practice focuses on complex commercial litigation including insurance defense, contract claims, and business torts. He has significant experience representing clients in both pre-litigation and litigation disputes involving contracts, landlord/tenant issues, insurance coverage, intellectual property, antitrust claims, and corporation dissolution.

Prior to joining Messner Reeves, Chad served as an associate with local, regional, and national law firms. His background enables him to identify relevant issues in a general liability case quickly and effectively.
